Coronavirus Update

The Ossining Public Library takes the health and safety of our patrons and staff very seriously, and we have been following the news and monitoring the status of COVID-19 (Coronavirus) closely. I wanted to share with you what the library is doing to protect you and our staff, following the recommendations of the Westchester County Department of Health and the CDC.

How we are mitigating health risks at the library:
- Our Buildings and Grounds staff is thoroughly cleaning the library every day, throughout the day, and are taking extra caution in wiping down door handles, railings, and elevator buttons.
- Our staff are thoroughly wiping down their work areas during their shifts.
- Tissues and hand sanitizer are available for patrons and staff throughout the building.
- We are displaying flyers from the Center of Disease Control throughout the building, with techniques for preventing the spread of illness and germs. To learn more about the CDC's response to Coronavirus, please click here.
- We encourage our staff to stay home if they are feeling ill.

The library is always available to you.
If you're unable to visit the Library for any reason, please know that many of our services are available 24/7 through our Digital Library.
- To borrow books, watch movies, or stream music, visit our eBooks and Audiobook page to get access to OverDrive, hoopla, and Kanopy.
● Our Learning Resources page will allow you to learn a new language with Mango Languages, brush up on study skills with Tutor.com, and take classes with Lynda.com.

If you'd like to speak to library staff for reference help, to get a reading recommendation, or to ask questions about your account, you can contact the library via email at any time. You can also call the library during our regular hours.

Sincerely,

Karen LaRocca-Fels, Ossining Public Library Director
