Listen to Your Art

watercolor Creature Feature Blob Art

Spontaneity is the spice of life. Learn to let go by by creating random shapes with watercolor, and transform them into art! Let’s go! The link to an overview of this project is on the Teen Program page on our website! Go to https://ossininglibrary.org/teens/programs/.

Needed Supplies:  Paper & pen (pen is not included)
  Paint, brush and popsicle stick (to stir the paint)
  A small cup or bowl to rinse out paint brush

Ready to Begin? Let’s go!

1. Paint random blobby shapes with watercolors - try to be spontaneous! Play with blending colors and non-conventional shapes.

2. Wait for the paint to dry (paper provided is thicker, so it shouldn’t take too long). Meditate on your art so far - what is it communicating to you? What would you like to share with the world today?

3. Using a pen, add detail to the blobs to create a story.

4. Share your art with us at oplteens@wlsmail.org - we’d love to see it!

5. Ta da! All done - that looks amazing! See you next time!
