

Public Computers at the Ossining Public Library

Due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, the number of computers available and the process by which to use them has changed. Please read below for more details.

The Ossining Library currently has a limited number of computers available for public use.

- Computers will be available to patrons for one (1) hour, per patron, per day. Staff will be unable to extend sessions to exceed one (1) hour.
- If all computers are in use on arrival to the library, please speak with a staff member at the Information Desk or Reference desk to get in line for the next available computer.
- Computer reservations cannot be made for future dates. Computers will automatically shut off 10 minutes prior to closing. Please plan accordingly.
- Staff will not be providing in-person or individual technical assistance with the computers. If you require assistance with software or other computer-related tasks, please speak with a staff member to get information about digital learning resources.

- Patrons who wish to use computers in the Teen Room or Children's room should contact those departments for information.
